OFF ROAD RIDING – The trip has been designed for large 200kgs bikes, riders need to have some level of off road experience, and be able to deal with climbs, descents, riding on loose stone / grit, and be confident in their own capabilities. Any obstacle has an option for riders – if you are not sure you do not have to do it.

BIKE SPEC

- › All bikes must have enduro tyres fitted, such as the Continental TKC80, this has been used for the last 3 years with no issues.
- › We suggest tyres are filled with tyre seal to avoid punctures, such as - ULTRASEAL, when this has been fitted by riders we have had no issues with punctures, when not riders have had punctures. Punctures slow the whole trip down and Motocadia can not be help responsible for fixing these, its up to the rider.
- › All riders should bring some tyre weld, tools and puncture repair kits.

Riders must be prepared that their bike may get dropped, if this worries you please do not come. In this photo lan's bike was fine, he just hit a rut. In the last 3 years we have had no major issues, off road, but the nature of off road riding means this could happen to you.
